When crossing the border, the group notice it's suddenly nighttime. When crossing back, it is suddenly daytime.

1B. FOREST

Heavy forest area around the village. Several bushes and grass-areas rustling as if there's something moving around, watching the village. The Sensational Seven were warned about "The Fereal One" in the forest. A fereal roar came from the forest and the horrifying sound aggitated Axe Beaks.

1C. VILLAGE

The village looks like complete and utter shit. The houses look unkept and broken down. The adventures are told the villagers are on a strickly vegetaria diet (that's bullshit but I believe it). Two trails lead towards the Matriarch of the land. One trail lead towards the forest and another takes you through a long path through the mountains.

2A. BALLROOM

Bards at the end of the hall playing fancy music; Classical music. Candles and lights all around. Servants appear to be frail and weak; darkness and gloom around their eyes. Guests are seen discussing political topics such as economics, eating a banquet of food all around the outside of the ballroom, and dancing with grace and class.

NOCTHERIA, "WHILE THE SUN DIES, WE ENDURE"

A matriarchy supported by Matriarchal Houses where the capital, Vathmir Keep, is often called "The Heart That Bleeds". Noctheria is known for exports of alchemical reagents, blacksteel, silks, artwork, and luxury wines. The villagers are not known for a social life and prefer total isolation. Currently, House Morvane campaigns for war with the southern nations to secure new land. Daytime is 4 hours and nighttime is 20 hours.

Gregory and Reuben pushed a few tables together and began to collect every food from different tables within the ballroom to their designated sandwich area.

While scrambling to every table, Reuben saw the professor again and decided to thank him for saving his life.
